

A Level History

Course introduction

History, despite being rooted in the past, is a dynamic and challenging subject which is always changing. As new research and debates come to light, more stories become available for us to explore and use to challenge what has previously been thought!

Course Content: AQA Exam Board

1C: The Tudors 1485 – 1603	2N: Revolution and Dictatorship in Russia 1917- 1953	NEA (Coursework)
2 hours 30 minutes 80 marks 40% of A-Level - Henry VII, Henry VIII, Edward VI, Mary I and Elizabeth I - Monarchy, Government, Foreign Powers, Society, Economy, Religion and Rebellion 	2 Hours 30 minutes 80 marks 40 % of A -Level - The Russian Revolution 1917 - The Rise of Stalin - Stalin's Rule 1929-1953 	40 marks 20% of A-Level - An individual investigation which focuses on event and tensions that took the USA from Civil War to Civil Rights. - This is an independent research project where pupils write a 3500-4500 word essay. - Pupils will explain why they believe Civil Rights were achieved in the USE and how important individuals were to this struggle.

Where can History take you?

With the growing importance of issues such as colonialism, totalitarianism, tolerance, liberalism and inequalities, History is one of the most relevant courses you could choose to study. Here are just a few examples of employment opportunities in History; Teaching, Law, Archaeology, Archivist, Journalism and Political Analyst. These are just examples, but they demonstrate just how transferable are the key skills of history. It enables the students to do much more than be able to explain the past.

Further information

If you require any further information or have any questions, please contact
Miss Phillips – Head of History - e.phillips@cfsacademy.org.uk
Mr Donaghy – r.donaghy@cfsacademy.org.uk

